Description

The Aardenburg Commando M 800 Spring side mower is a practical addition to shredders, which helps to achieve better ground tracking and a more even working height. Thanks to the spring design, the shredder adapts more easily to uneven ground, thus achieving more even and precise work. The solution reduces the load resulting from collisions with the ground, thereby contributing to the protection of machine components and a longer service life. With its use, you can work more safely and efficiently even in changing terrain conditions. The Commando M 800 Spring is an ideal choice for those who, in addition to the performance of their shredder, also place great emphasis on the quality of work and the reliability of the machine.
