Description

Metal-Technik AB-2500 no-till cultivator

A no-till cultivator is an agricultural machine designed for simplified soil cultivation without the need to plough it. Thanks to the special design consisting of working tines, levelling discs and a compacting roller, it enables effective loosening of the soil, mixing of crop residues and preparation of the soil for seeding in one pass. It reduces fuel and operating costs, improves soil structure and reduces erosion. Ideal for farms looking for efficient and ecological solutions in farming.

Specification of the AB-2500 no-till cultivator:
